Gianni is the newest addition to the GRBB team, having joined in 2022, following his graduation from UCLA in the summer of 2021. Gianni aids the firm in researching and assisting in a broad range of matters relating to real-estate disputes, trademarks and copyright infringement claims, intellectual property disputes, and employee/employer disputes. He enjoys the research, critical thinking, and strategizing that he learns from and engages with at GRBB.

While at UCLA, Gianni cultivated his passions for the humanities, politics, and sociology by pursuing a double major in political science and African-American Studies. In his departmental research, Gianni further explored his interests in culture, identity and the arts solidifying his love for community and social justice. He plans to attend law school in the fall of 2023 and intends to continue to develop his care for civil rights, social justice, and reframing carcerality.

Gianni spends his free time painting, swimming, consuming every piece of media possible, and going to concerts.
